SAUL EWING RELOCATES WASHINGTON, D.C. OFFICE

(Washington, D.C., June 27, 2011)—Saul Ewing LLP is pleased to announce the relocation of its Washington, D.C. office to 1919 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, located within the Central Business District and in close proximity to the White House, World Bank, International Monetary Fund and George Washington University.

“We are committed to the District of Columbia market, including the suburbs of Maryland and Virginia,” said Mark I. Gruhin, co-managing partner of the Washington, D.C. office. He added that in the past year, Saul Ewing has welcomed seven attorneys to its D.C. office, increasing the number of attorneys in that office to 26.

“This move makes good business sense as we continue to grow our D.C. office and presence,” Gruhin said. “We are ideally situated to accommodate our anticipated growth.” Gruhin’s co-managing partner, Edward R. Levin, said the new office space will be more convenient for clients and staff because of the Central Business District amenities and the office’s accessibility to Metro, and the many associations, and D.C. and federal agencies where the firm’s attorneys regularly appear.

Saul Ewing will occupy the 5th floor of the building which has been completely gutted and redesigned to accommodate the Firm. The new space, which is larger and more modern than the firm’s space in the Watergate building, includes state-of-the-art conference rooms, multi-disciplinary work rooms and cutting edge communication and computer networks.
