Jennifer L. Beidel is a trial lawyer and former federal prosecutor who represents organizations and individuals in white collar criminal defense cases, internal investigations, corporate compliance matters, and complex commercial disputes. She draws on her extensive trial and investigative experience ? in both the private and public sectors ? to assist clients facing criminal and civil allegations of fraud and other misconduct in the health care, life sciences, food and agriculture, and financial services industries, among others.

Prior to joining the Firm, Jennifer served as an assistant U.S. attorney in the Southern District of New York, where she was a member of the Complex Frauds and Cybercrime Unit. During her years as a prosecutor, Jennifer led investigations and prosecutions in a variety of areas, including: tax fraud; health care fraud including cases involving HIPPA and confidential health information; cybercrime; bank and wire fraud; securities fraud; consumer fraud; bribery; and money laundering. Jennifer also worked closely with numerous government agencies, including the FBI, SEC, IRS, DEA, Department of Homeland Security, Department of Labor, Secret Service, Postal Inspection Service, and New York State Department of Financial Services. As many of her investigations were international in scope, Jennifer also worked closely with the governments of various foreign partners, including the United Kingdom, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, and the Dominican Republic.

Jennifer has extensive experience appearing before judges and juries, including federal and state jury trials; sentencing, plea, and bail hearings; FINRA arbitrations; mediations; and multiple appellate arguments before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Jennifer brings her personal background in agriculture to bear in many of her cases, having been raised on a livestock farm and studied agriculture at Penn State. Jennifer also writes and speaks regularly on agriculture and white collar criminal defense topics.

EXPERIENCE

Past Federal Prosecution Work

Jennifer's past work as an assistant U.S. attorney gives her critical insight into the tactics and strategies utilized by the government in its investigations and prosecutions. Jennifer's significant matters as a prosecutor include:

- Secured guilty verdicts at trial against the CEO and other high-level officers in a $150 million consumer fraud scheme involving the unauthorized placement of charges on consumers' cell phone bills
 - Prosecuted the CEO, CFO, and other high-level officers of a debt collection company for orchestrating a $31 million fraudulent debt collection scheme
 - Charged five defendants in a $33 million mortgage fraud conspiracy in connection with a debt-elimination scheme to defraud homeowners and banks
 - Secured guilty verdicts at trial against the owner and manager of a company that bilked consumers out of $11 million
 - Charged co-founder and CEO of a foreign oil company with a $30 million wire fraud and money laundering scheme
 - Prosecuted an individual who attempted to gain unauthorized access to the computer network of a well-known organization
 - Secured guilty verdict at trial against a tax preparer on 38 counts of aiding and assisting the preparation of false and fraudulent tax returns
 - Prosecuted the owner of a medical technology company for evading millions in income taxes
 - Prosecuted a New York personal injury and medical malpractice lawyer for evading millions in income taxes
