

The Afternoon Docket

Reuters

Caitlin Tremblay

July 17, 2024

What's going on today?

- Adidas and Thom Browne fight in UK court over striped trademarks.
- Pentagon leaker Jack Teixeira to face trial by court-martial.
- Plus, your weekly Career Tracker.

Prosecutor in 2017 anti-Trump protest cases faces attorney ethics charges

U.S. federal prosecutor Jennifer Kerkhoff Muyskens is facing disciplinary charges for allegedly using deceptively edited videos as evidence in criminal cases against people who were arrested while protesting the 2017 inauguration of President Donald Trump.

The edited videos omitted footage of protesters telling others to remain non-violent and use de-escalation tactics with police, allowing the government to argue at trial that the defendants had planned to riot, the disciplinary complaint said. Read more.

More top news:

- Judge pauses Wyoming oil and gas drilling leases pending review
- Former Goldman, Blackstone analyst gets 28-month prison sentence for insider trading
- Adidas and Thom Browne fight in UK court over striped trademarks
- Pentagon leaker Jack Teixeira to face trial by court-martial
- U.S. court overturns Alaska oil lease sale in a win for environmentalists

Career Tracker ...

Former Alaska judge had potential conflicts in 23 cases, prosecutors say

Federal prosecutors in Alaska have identified 23 criminal cases in which attorneys appearing before now-former U.S. District Judge Joshua Kindred, who was accused of sexual misconduct and resigned last week, may have had undisclosed conflicts of interests. Read more.

From the legal industry:

Law firm Milberg, which said it unknowingly submitted fake claims as part of a $5.6 billion antitrust settlement with Visa and Mastercard, will escape sanctions for now ... Tesla replaced its longtime law firm in a California class action, swapping a team from Cravath with attorneys from WilmerHale ... Plus, Elon Musk's longtime law firm, Quinn Emanuel, has been disqualified from representing his social media company X Corp in a data-scraping case.

Moves:

In New York ...

Alston & Bird added investment funds partner Heather Wyckoff from Schulte Roth & Zabel ... Haynes and Boone hired Counsel Meghan O'Reilly for its fund finance group from Herrick, Feinstein.

In Washington, D.C. ...

Eversheds Sutherland hired Harmony Jones as a pro bono counsel from Steptoe ... Davis Wright Tremaine added Former CFPB Enforcer Melissa Baal Guidorizzi to its national financial services team as a partner.

In Chicago ...

Polsinelli added Timothy Schaum as a shareholder to its intellectual property litigation practice from Daspin & Aument.

In San Francisco ...

ArentFox Schiff added Ehsun Forghany as a partner to its intellectual property practice from Morgan, Lewis & Bockius ... Davis Wright Tremaine brought in Jerome Ku as partner from Gunderson Dettmer.

In Los Angeles ...

Saul Ewing brought in new partner Stephen Ma from Early Sullivan Wright Gizer & McRae ... McDermott Will & Emery hired Brian Glennon as a partner in its litigation practice group from Latham & Watkins.

In Denver ...

Buchalter hired attorneys Dylan Metzner, Amber Arias, Laura Chartrand and Albert Sahlstrom.

In Miami ...

Sidley added partner Aryeh Kaplan to its commercial litigation and disputes practice from Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman.

In Texas ...

Polsinelli relocated its Dallas office to the Old Parkland Campus ... Polsinelli opened an office in Fort Worth.

In Mexico ...

Baker McKenzie hired partner Nadja Ruiz in its North America tax practice group from EY.

Apple's quest for documents from litigation funder Omni sparks venue fight

Apple seems to believe that the litigation funder Omni Bridgeway is backing a long-running San Francisco federal lawsuit accusing Apple of infringing patents belonging to a Finnish non-practicing entity. So when Omni refused to turn over information in response to Apple's subpoena, the company took action to force the funder to comply. But not in the San Francisco litigation. Apple instead sued Omni in Delaware, where the suit ended up before a judge known for demanding transparency about litigation funding. Omni has moved to transfer the case to the San Francisco judge overseeing the underlying patent litigation. But if Delaware keeps the case, writes Alison Frankel, you can expect other defendants to engage in similar jurisdictional tactics to suss out funding deals.

In other news ...

J.D. Vance is poised to take Trumpism into the future ... Biden pledges "I am all in," criticizes Trump on policy ... Here's the latest from the RNC and the U.S. election ... Germany to halve military aid for Ukraine despite possible Trump White House ... King Charles sets out the new Labour government's priorities. Here's a look at some of the key policy plans ... How dangerous is the new U.S.-Russia missile

race? ... Israel pounds central Gaza, sends tanks north of Rafah ... Boeing door blowout crisis hitting suppliers, airlines and passengers ... Paris Olympics marketing blitz powered by female athletes ... Remains of an ancient Papal palace believed to have been found in Rome ... Rare photos of the Mashco Piro, an uncontacted tribe in Peruvian Amazon ... And here are other top photos of the day.